

Are you a recent MSc grad? Do you want experience working as a scientist in Toronto's cutting-edge biotech start-up ecosystem? Great & exciting news - Paradox Immunotherapeutics is hiring!

Position title: Junior Scientist

Company: Paradox Immunotherapeutics

Company website: www.paradoximmuno.com

Location: MaRS Discovery District, Toronto

Job Requirements: Recent Grad (<12 months) with MSc

Start date: July 2022

Position Description:

The successful candidate will be required to report to the chief scientific officer and scientific team members while performing standardized laboratory research techniques and procedures described below:

Lab Skills and Experience:

- Tissue culture
- Basic molecular biology and/or protein biochemistry lab techniques
- Recombinant protein expression and protein purification is an asset
- ELISA or other immunoassay development is an asset
- Keep accurate, detailed, up-to-date laboratory notebooks
- Maintain good laboratory practices

General skill sets required:

- Quick learner, entrepreneurial spirit and work ethic, able to work with a small and versatile research team committed to meeting tight deadlines
- Strong interpersonal skills that inspire and earn trust with team members
- Superior written and verbal communication skills
- Ability to organize, interpret, and communicate experimental results clearly and succinctly
- Flexible and adaptable working style; willing to take on new assignments and resilient to respond to new challenges
- Excellent attention to detail
- Ability to take on projects independently
- Proficiency in English with excellent written and verbal communication skills
- Legally allowed to work in Canada

Interested and excited to learn more? Please contact Yulong Sun at yulong@paradoximmuno.com